SENATE GIVES TARIFF ACTION
Shingles Finally Placed on the Free List
Tobacco Schedule Passed Without Roll Call Agricultural Products in Hand Today

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Conflicting action in the tariff bill today than on any day since that measure came before it. The Senate cleaned up the wood schedules by voting, 49 to 18, to retain shingles on the free list and then disposed of all committee amendments to the tobacco schedule. Tomorrow they will come to the agricultural schedule with its multitude of duties on farm products.

COMPROMISE REJECTED
After voting to approve the committee action in striking out the House rate the Senate rejected, 45 to 18, an amendment by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to make the duty 15 cents a thousand. The Republican agricultural tariff bloc split on each vote as did the majority of the committee. Senator Watson of Indiana, and Curtis of Kansas, committee members, voting to make shingles dutiable.

Only two controversies of moment arose over the tobacco schedule and all rates proposed were approved without roll calls. The committee majority rejected from the recommendations for duties of $2.35 a pound on unstemmed wrapper tobacco and $3 on such tobacco stemmings, accepting the House figures of $2.10 and $2.75 respectively. Senator Pomeroy, Democrat, Ohio, moved to cut the $2.10 duty to $1.15, but this amendment was rejected.

LOCAL "TURKISH" TOBACCO
Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, opposed a committee amendment striking out the House entry of $1 a pound on Turkish tobacco and gave notice that when the bill reached the Senate he would seek to have the $1 a pound stored. He said large quantities of this tobacco had been produced in his State during the war and could be produced with proper tariff protection. Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, led the fight in favor of the committee amendment.

Other committee rates approved were 35 cents a pound on unstemmed filler tobacco; 50 cents a pound on such tobacco if stemmed; and 35 cents a pound on scrap tobacco.

BUSINESS BOOM SEEN IN REPORT

Federal Reserve Agent Has Promising Review

Activity in Nearly All Lines Gains Momentum

Department Store Sales Are Much Greater

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Increased activity in practically all lines of industry, with an improved employment situation and advancing prices for farm products, are features of the report for May of John Perrin, San Francisco, Federal Reserve agent for the twelfth district, made public here today. An abstract of Mr. Perrin's report follows:

"In May for the first month this year the dollar value of sales of thirty-two representative department stores and mail-order houses was greater than in the corresponding month a year ago. Sales in May, 1932, being 15.5 per cent greater in value than in May, 1931.

"In the automobile trade the various lines (except automobile tires and shoes) report increases of 1 to 21 per cent on the dollar value of their sales during May, 1932, compared with May, 1931, by far the most favorable showing made this year. These increases evidence the greater purchasing power of the community growing out of increased activity in industry, the improved employment situation and advancing prices for farm products.

"Since January of this year there has been a steady increase in the production of lumber in this district and in May reporting lumber mills operated at 150 per cent of normal capacity for the first time in two years. Orders received exceeded the output and unfilled orders on hand at the close of the month were nearly twice as large as one year ago.

"Several of the principal copper mines of the district which recently resumed operations are now producing and one more large company announced the opening of its mine during the month.

"During the present year each month's daily production of petroleum in California has exceeded that of the previous month. The month of May setting a production record of 357,376 barrels per day. Stored stocks of petroleum in that State, at 42,641,461 barrels, stand at the highest figure reached in the past five years.

"Reported increases in industrial activity are confirmed by increased sales of electric power for industrial purposes. The most noteworthy improvement is reported in the intermountain district where, largely in response to the growing needs of the mining industry, sales of electric power during April increased approximately 50 per cent over March.

"The crops of the district made favorable progress during May and normal yields are expected in most sections. Prices already made on some varieties of deciduous fruits are unusually high. These prices were paid to the grower a year ago.

"Shearing of wool has been completed except in some parts of the Northern States and about 80 per cent of the district clip (73,256,000 pounds) has already been sold. New clip wool has recently been chased for 35 to 40 cents per pound compared with prices of 15 to 17 cents paid at the last sale.

"The banking situation in the district changed little during the month. Reserves with the Federal Reserve bank, both by city and country member banks, were reduced the total on June 14 by the $1,255,000, or 2.5 per cent less than on May 10. Loans and discounts of reporting member banks remained practically stationary and on June 7 were $252,560,000 compared with $253,251,000 on May 1. Interest on commercial paper (bought through brokers) and on customers' paper in some of the leading financial centers of the district declined 1-4 to 1-2 of 1 per cent during the month.

"Building activity continues at record figures. The number of permits issued during May having been exceeded only in one month, October, 1931. Permits issued were $2.1 per cent greater in number and $2.1 per cent greater in value than in May, 1931.

"Debits to individual accounts in the district were 2.1 per cent greater in May than in April, but liabilities were greater. Compared with May, 1931, the number of failures increased 14.5 per cent and the amount of liabilities 27.5 per cent.

"Savings deposits in the principal cities of the district have increased in each of the past five months except April, and on May 31, 1932, were 4.4 per cent greater than on May 31, 1931.

BAY CITY "KIDS" SHOOT MARBLES

Prominent Business Men Knuckle and Play for Aggie

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Over 150 "kids" who, in more serious moments are grown-ups, some of them prominent business men and public officials, knuckled down yesterday in a marble-playing tournament for men and women, conducted by a San Francisco newspaper. George W. Watson won the title, with fifteen marbles of a possible thirty in three heats in the finals.

Among the contestants was Patrick D. O'Brien, 78 years old, of the retail house, who claimed the big crowd put him off his old time form. T. H. MacDonald, also 78 years old, was another of the youngsters.

CATERPILLAR INVASION IN BROOKLYN

Plague is Worst in Years and Will Reach Apex This Week

(REUTERS WIRE.)
NEW YORK, June 26.—Brooklyn is confronted this year with the worst caterpillar invasion it has had in years. Although Park Commissioner Harmon has now 100 men engaged every day in spraying trees in the parks and city streets, they are unable to cope with the plague. Last year the pest invaded sections of Brooklyn which formerly had been quite free. The caterpillar laid an immense number of eggs which are being hatched out this summer.

"The park department is now getting more than 100 complaints a day," said Commissioner Harmon. "and this number is likely to be five times as great before the end of another week. The caterpillars have not yet begun to drop out of the trees, and they are now only noticed by very observing citizens."

Magnetic Power of Ma Earth is Decreasing Now

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
WATCHDOG (Ga.) June 25.—Old age is telling on Mother Earth and she is losing some of her attractiveness, according to discovery made during the last few days by scientists at Carnegie Institute. Prof. J. W. Meade, of the local station in an effort to determine the circular or annual variations of the globe, developed the magnetic power of the earth is decreasing. This, the scientists stated, may be due in part to the fact that the earth is now in its old age. No one knows the exact cause, however, they said.

REIMBURSEMENT BILL OFFERED IN SENATE

SUBSTITUTE MEASURE WOULD RECOMPENSE SHIPYARD CONTRACTORS
(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, June 26.—A bill for reimbursement of shipyard contractors who suffered loss through cancellations of the wooden ship building program of the war was introduced today by Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, as a substitute for a similar bill introduced several weeks ago. The substitute measure was prepared in conference with Shipping Board officials, and was designed to clear up legal technicalities. It was said.

Like the original McNary bill, the substitute measure's operation would apply only to wooden ship contracts made between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 19, 1918. Provisions of the original bill, however, were broadened in that besides those having been awarded wooden ship contracts, benefits of the bill also would go to persons or firms "to whom it had been represented" that the government would award ship contracts, which were subsequently canceled.

The payments of damages fixed in an aggregate of $5,000,000 cash under the substitute bill would exceed the difference between the actual cost of the shipbuilders' investment in such shipyard plant and the residual value of said plant at the time of the full release by the government, less all fees and other payments for profit and plant depreciation.

MAJORITY FAVORS STRIKE. PUZZLE IN JEKYLL AND HYDE ACTS. PRINCE OF MONACO DIES. Suffers Relapse; Passes Away from Effects of Operation.

But Stewart Has His Own Answer to Questions of Psychologists. Why did Donald D. Stewart, ex-minister and social reformer, marry so many women? Why did he, after the asserted marriage ceremonies were performed, continue to associate with each of them at different periods instead of abandoning each one in turn?

Why did he, as Mrs. Ethel Turner Ochsford, one of his five asserted wives, said he did, imbibe a quantity of intoxicating liquor contrary to all the principles he was supposed to have expounded from the pulpit? Why did he, as the police authorities of four cities say he did, accumulate thousands of dollars through fraud?

Why, in fact, did he not walk the straight and narrow trail upon which he set out when ordained a minister of the gospel in 1907? Some psychologists having scrutinized the shape of his head, the angle of his nose, and width of his chin, say that it was because he possessed a dual personality, that at one moment he is one kind of a man, and the next moment he is another. Others say it is because his nature demanded change of action, something in which he could be a leader.

At the City Jail yesterday Stewart, with a laugh and shrug of his shoulders answered all the above questions in his own words: "Why did I do it? Why, simply because I wanted to, that's all."

Reinstate Five Students Who Joined Society. Ruling that the Delta Sigma Tau Fraternity is not a secret high school society coming within the purview of the anti-fraternity law, the Board of Education last night reinstated five high school students suspended ten days ago charged with being members of that organization.

The students were suspended by Arthur Gould, assistant superintendent of schools, pending an investigation as to the character of the Delta Sigma Tau Fraternity membership in which was admitted by the boys.

The students reinstated are Richard Connor, Jack Pearson and Howard McCallister of Manual Arts High School, and Herbert Goodard and Clifford Olson of Los Angeles High School. Connor is a senior. He and Pearson, it was stated last night, have already resigned from the fraternity and the other three have announced their intention of doing so.

According to former Judge Rex B. Goodsell, who appeared before the board as a friend of two of the boys, the Delta Sigma Tau Fraternity is not a high school or college fraternity, the five boys named being the only members in high school. Most of the other members, he stated, were engaged in business. The society was organized in October of last year and it was not the intention of the organizers, he said, to solicit members from high schools.

SCHOOL BOND SALE IS ASKED BY BOARD. School bonds sufficient to defray the expenses of a $5,000,000 building program will be placed on the market shortly, according to resolution passed by the Board of Education last night requesting the Board of Supervisors prepare the bonds for sale. Of this amount, $3,000,000 will be spent for junior and senior high schools and $2,000,000 for elementary schools.

By placing only $5,000,000 of the $17,000,000 school bond issue recently voted on sale at the present time, taxpayers will be saved approximately $589,600 in interest charges, it was estimated by Eliot Craig, member of the board. This will mean, he stated, a saving of about 6 or 7 cents on each $100 valuation in the tax rate.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Auto Sales Reflect Prosperity While High Temperature Cools Business Ardor

BY CHAPIN HALL

Los Angeles automobile dealers turn a deaf ear to any suggestion of poor business. Sales are breaking all records locally and some dealers are unable to promise deliveries under six weeks. There is a lively rivalry between agencies handling the cheaper cars, and these, with liberal time allowance, are moving rapidly. Accessory markets are correspondingly active and every day is a "boom day" along the line.

That this condition is not unusual is evidenced by statistics from the big producers, who report record outputs and a production now on a 2,000,000 yearly basis. The actual output for 1932 is expected to exceed 2,000,000, contrasted to the 1931 previous record of 1,800,170 cars.

At present Ford is producing 4800 cars a day. Dodge Brothers, 400; Willys-Overland, 300; Studebaker, 400; Maxwell, 400, and General Motors, 2000. Total daily output of these big organizations which normally account for about 80 per cent of the passenger-car output, is now running 8240 per day, or at the rate of 2,472,000 annually.

May established a new monthly record, which is likely to be broken by this month's results.
The May record was 252,000 vehicles. The previous high mark was 238,000 in March, 1930. In April of this year the output was 218,445 cars.

Duration is showing the new star light car which is intended to compete with Ford's at a base price of $148. Quantity production is not yet in sight, however.

A concomitant of the tremendous automobile business is that of insurance, a current phase of which is the growth of the full coverage provisions, drivers taking cognizance of increased hazards of the road by protecting themselves.
It is evident that the percentage of heavy runs higher hereabouts than it does in the East, for a Philadelphia paper says that "few companies at this time issue policies without a definite value in case of loss through theft or fire, as a result of the great number of frauds committed against the companies. Provision now is made for arbitration. As an indication of the extent of fraudulent claims, an agent asserts that 95 per cent of all losses on which claims have been based occurred within six weeks before the time the insurance expired."

DAY IN REVIEW
The high pressure which has been maintained in nearly all lines of business was relieved slightly yesterday, and the concluding week of the month opened quietly.
Retail establishments dealing in seasonal requirements were filled with customers, but throughout the financial districts executives were slow in getting back from week-end and summer or mountain jaunts, and were filled with inertia when they did reach their desks.

Industrial, rail and municipal financing for the day totaled about $15,000,000. The digestion for the new and older offerings was somewhat impaired, but bond men saw only an overcast, wistful, in-blame, and in most quarters the statement was made that inquiries are strong and that the week's business will strike its stride today.

The vacation season is on, and from now until September there will be many vacant chairs. The deliberate advent of good summer weather is having a good effect upon crops and from the farming district comes news of bumper harvest of wheat and fruit harvests.

The general lethargy was reflected upon the floor of the stock exchange where trading was light, and with fluctuations held within narrow limits. One observer says that the market is in a trading arm, and will probably show fairness incident to the summer season, but that assuredly it will re-
cheerfulness of money.

Mexican Petroleum Leading Factor; Price Trends Are Upward; Sterling Exchange Recovers

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES

NEW YORK, June 26.—Taken as a whole, today's stock market was one of the narrowest of the season. The day's total transactions of 10,000 shares were large enough as such things go, but more than one-fourth of that total was contributed by sales of Mexican Petroleum stock, by dealers in shares of the company organized to hold Mexican Petroleum stock and by trading in shares of two or three other oil companies.
It will not be surprising, therefore, that the broad general trading "which was reflected in the almost unbroken series of "million share markets" from the beginning of April into June came abruptly to an end on the day, a week and a half ago, when the rapid marking up of Mexican Petroleum stock began. Since that day total transactions have only once reached a million shares; the daily decrease has been fairly continuous. However, much of this situation is interest in the market may be an incident of the season, it will hardly be doubted that it is also the unconscious expression of distaste of a market dominated by a virtually cornered concession.

Why Most Men Fail to Acquire Incomes

Two of the factors responsible for the failure of ninety-four out of every hundred men to be financially able to retire at sixty-five are: First, the mistake in not following a systematic investment plan; Second, the average man's mistaken impression that a large number of years must pass before a fortune can be created safely.

As a matter of fact, the experience of thousands of men has proven that planned investing in safe bonds makes it possible to acquire in a comparatively short time an amount large enough to yield a satisfactory income.

There is a practical investment plan which enables any one to make certain that he will be among the few who are financially independent in their later years. It is described in our booklet, "BUILDING AN INCOME FUND." Write, phone or call for a copy.

5 Reason Why You Should Buy

Consumers Milk Co.

Common Stock—NOW

1. BECAUSE dairy concerns have proven to be excellent profit makers when properly managed and advantageously located. Especially so in Los Angeles. During an investigation made last year in L. A., it was shown that a stockholder in a certain dairy company here, on an investment of $25,000 made a few years ago, received over $87,000 in the year 1930.
2. BECAUSE Consumers Milk Company is being organized at a time when public sentiment has created a place for it, and because the growth of Los Angeles warrants the establishment of a publicly owned milk concern to protect customers from trusts and monopolies.
3. BECAUSE MILK is a sound foundation for investment, especially in a city whose growth created an ever-increasing demand.
4. BECAUSE thousands of milk consumers are behind this enterprise on the one hand—and hundreds of dairy-men are doing their part to bring about cheaper and better milk on the other.
5. BECAUSE this is the first and only dairy company to be started which is independent of the trust.

You owe it to yourself, your family and your city to investigate your opportunity here. Clip coupon and write us today!

RACE FOR HAPPY HOMES STIRS ALL SOUTHWEST

Lots of People want Part of $70,000 in Prizes Given Away by "The Times."

A case of love at first sight! Thousands of men and women in Los Angeles and surrounding territory had their first glimpse in Sunday's Times of the $16,500 home and the $8000 bungalow that are to be given away in The Times' $70,000 prize campaign and promptly decided they were about the nicest things ever.

And straightway most of them decided they wanted one or the other; at least the nominations that poured into the campaign office all day yesterday would seem to indicate as much. It was the Times from day to day about these houses, and the other prizes you are going to give away, but I figured that the house and the bungalow couldn't amount to much, since you had so many other prizes. But, by gosh, there they are! Why say that $16,500 house is a mansion. It suits me exactly. Wife has her heart set on the $8000 bungalow, but we've made up our minds to have one or the other. So here's my nomination. I'm going to try mighty hard.

The $16,500 prize home is to be erected in Wilshire Crest, and the $8000 bungalow will be built in West Hollywood Tract. Many of the candidates have visited these beautiful residence districts, in order to see for themselves the many charming homes already there.

Details regarding the houses will be found elsewhere in this issue. The Times' advertisement in this issue.

CAMPAIGN .. FOR .. CHARITY .. STARTS

Funds of Catholic Drive Will Go to Sick and Homeless Children

The Orphan Asylum, Boyle Heights, One of the oldest orphan asylums in Los Angeles and one of the institutions to be benefited by the Catholic Charities Campaign.

TODAY marks the opening of the big Catholic charities campaign for the gathering of funds to sustain the wide scope of philanthropies carried on under the direction of the Bureau of Catholic Charities.

Throughout the diocese, with the Rt. Rev. Cantwell, D.D., as supreme director, the campaign will be continued until July 1.

Its beneficiaries will be the thousands of little orphans, who find a refuge in the big charitable institutions which the bureau directs, thousands of undernourished children and numerous unfortunate men and women, whom poverty and hunger have dragged into the maelstrom of despair.

It is to help these and many others that the big campaign is planned. And to many homes to be during the remainder of the week will be carried the message of little children in need; the appeal of the destitute, the hungry and suffering.

More than a score of charitable institutions, will share in the fruits of the campaign, these including the St. Vincent's Maternity Home and the Regina Coeli Orphanage, where nearly 200 little girls of all nationalities are "mothered" and cared for.

The Los Angeles Orphan Asylum, whose charitable activities are co-ordinated with the other institutions, under the leadership of the bureau, as well as the Mother Cabrini Home for the aged, will likewise share in the funds.

The convent of the Good Shepherd is another of the philanthropic institutions performing a wonderful work among girls—appeal of the destitute, the hungry and suffering.

Rev. Robert E. Lucey, D.D., is general director of the campaign; John R. Scott, chairman of the executive committee; Frank P. Jena, secretary, and John T. McBean, campaign director.

KLAN SPLIT REVEALED

Imperial Kligrapp, Dismissed, Attacks Wizard Problem as Dictator of Empire

ATLANTA (Ga.) June 26.—The ambition of Edward Young Clarke to be the undisputed dictator of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan has just been realized, it was learned here today, as a consequence of Clarke's dismissal of the Imperial Kligrapp, or secretary, of the "Invisible Empire," Louis David Wade.

Having forced the Imperial Wizard, W. J. Simmons, to take a six months' vacation, and having assumed the title Wizard and Imperial Wizard pro tem, Clarke removed the only other obstruction to his desire for complete autocratic power in the masked empire when he pushed Wade, who has been Kligrapp for three years, out of the Imperial Palace on Peachtree Road.

Clarke gave Simmons the reasons for firing Wade. The latter tells another story.

Wade attacks chief. According to Wade, Clarke is now not only supreme in all matters of policy, organization and management, but has also managed to obtain complete control of the Ku Klux Klan. Simmons, by setting up a disbanding committee composed of men who owe their jobs to him, according to Wade, is making a move to take the Klan under his control.

Wade, in a statement today, said Simmons had been "kicked" out of the doors of the state court-house and no "Kladda" to direct them inside.

There were no "Kladda" to direct them inside.

When the court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the state had used two of its five peremptory challenges and the defense six of its ten. The following were in the jury box at the end of the session: Earl Howard, former Councilman; Mrs. Francis

ADDITIONAL KLAN BONDS ARE POSTED

Thirty-five Indicted Men Each Deposit $500 More; Baker Reported Very Ill

Additional bonds amounting to $17,500 were posted yesterday in Judge Houser's court by thirty-five members of the masked empire who were indicted by the grand jury following the Ku Klux Klan investigation. All of the men, according to the authorities, are members of the Klan.

None of the asserted Klansmen appeared in court yesterday but were represented by Attorney Paul Berkeley D'Or, who appeared with bondsmen. He stated after the bonds had been accepted that all of the thirty-seven defendants will be in court on August 7 when the trials are scheduled.

It was reported yesterday by King Kiegle G. W. Price that Klansman Nathan A. Baker, who was indicted for the murder of a party, was very ill. Baker, who is at liberty under $5000 bond, is at his home in Maywood.

Capt. W. S. Coburn, former Grand Goblin for the Klan, also posted bonds under $5000 ball, and was reported yesterday that he will remain in California until after the trials of the asserted Klansmen and then return to Atlanta.

Mr. Coburn is no longer an official of the Klan, but stated that he will remain a member of the organization.

ACCUSED TEACHER QUILTS

Manual Arts High School Professor Faces Charge of Misconduct With Motherless Girl Pupil

Charges of misconduct with a 17-year-old motherless girl by a teacher in the Manual Arts High School here were filed yesterday with the State Board of Education in session at Sacramento. The man accused is Ray E. Chase, who taught psychology at Manual Arts until two or three months ago, when he resigned. The identity of the girl is not made known.

The charges were contained in a letter from George M. Thorne of Los Angeles, who last night refused to say what his interest in the case was.

Arthur L. Gould, deputy superintendent of schools in charge of high school work, said that as far as he knew, Mr. Chase had resigned voluntarily. Mr. Thorne's letter declared that Mr. Chase's resignation had been occasioned by his foreknowledge that his relations with the girl were discovered by her protectors.

Mr. Chase is described as a man of mature years, who has been a teacher in the high schools here for ten or twelve years. He is a widower and father of three grown daughters. His pupil is said to be the eldest of four motherless daughters.

An announcement was given out by Dr. Frank P. Barham, brother of the deceased newspaper publisher, stating that Thursday has been chosen as the day for the services and that Rev. Dean McCormick of St. Paul's Cathedral will administer the last rites. Dr. Barham stated that the hour for the services and the church in which the services are to be held, will be announced later. The disbanding of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral to excavate for the new Biltmore Hotel will make it necessary to conduct the services in some other large church. Names of pallbearers will also be announced later by the family.

Mr. Barham died in London following a throat operation. Mrs. Marie B. Barham and daughter Millicent accompanied the remains back to their home in this city. They were met at San Bernardino by Dr. Barham and Arthur Holaday.

BURIAL OF PUBLISHER THURSDAY

Guy Brinton Barham to Receive Last Rites; Pallbearers Unnamed

Funeral arrangements for Guy Brinton Barham, late president of the Los Angeles Herald Publishing Company, who arrived from London yesterday afternoon, were partially completed last night.

An announcement was given out by Dr. Frank P. Barham, brother of the deceased newspaper publisher, stating that Thursday has been chosen as the day for the services and that Rev. Dean McCormick of St. Paul's Cathedral will administer the last rites. Dr. Barham stated that the hour for the services and the church in which the services are to be held, will be announced later. ## NOTED SHIP BUILDER IS SUMMONED

S. L. Naphtaly, Widely Known Engineer, Dies Suddenly in Northern City

Samuel L. Naphtaly, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation from 1917 to the first of this year, and one of the best known engineers in the United States, died Sunday night at San Francisco. Although ill for several months his health had been improving and his death was unexpected, says word received here yesterday.

Since leaving here Mr. Naphtaly has been vice-president of the Great Western Power Company of San Francisco. In 1907 he was made vice-president and general manager of the City Electric Company of the Great Western.

Before that he was chief engineer of the San Francisco Gas and Electric Company, in charge of operation and maintenance. He helped organize and build the Oakland, Antioch and Eastern Railway in 1910, and ever since was associated with that road.

Mr. Naphtaly came here to help organize the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, and in the period he was general manager and aided the U. S. Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation in large shipbuilding programs.

He was one of the ablest engineers in the United States, particularly in the electrical field. Erie M. Leaf, vice-president of the local shipbuilding concern said yesterday: "He was one of the most important industrial leaders and was considered by them as one of the keenest and most able men in his line in the United States."

Mr. Naphtaly was 47 years old. He leaves a widow and daughter, Miss Gertrude Naphtaly. The family had been living at the Palace Hotel.

C. H. M. sharp-eyed Corcoran, was mystified at this from the Lake Elsinore paper: "Wanted—Girl to do housework during July, 28 mornings and evenings." C. H. M. declares too much tempus will have fled by the time the girl has finished thirty-eight mornings and evenings to make her much use during July.

A. H. saw lots of things that he called her risibilities while motor-touring Sunday. One was this sign on a church bulletin: "Rev. John P. The Great Disappointment." Rough on the pastor, wouldn't you say? But candid.

G. W. H. says there were big dogs in Vinal on Flag Day. He gives it by a clip from the Vinal paper. According to that journal the night spot of the afternoon came when "Columbia, the Germ of the Ocean, was rendered by Joe E. Joseph in his usual attractive style." No doubt a pleasant time was had by all.

Amos, of Hollywood, persists, but will not sign her initials. Ray came up from San Diego recently in a Ray coach. While traveling the last June outside the station here she heard one say: "Wait, this is only the skimmed milk; the cream from the chair car will be along in a minute." ## Husband Drunk Every Night in Year, Says Wife

"He was drunk every night during the first year that we were married," Mrs. Julia C. Robinson informed Judge Mann yesterday. And there were other alcoholic anecdotes which she told about her husband, A. H. Robinson. For failing to put him to bed when he arrived home intoxicated, she said.

She was granted a divorce.

LINKS KU KLUX TO DEFENDANT

Vitelle Trial on Charge of Assault is Opened

Hooded Order at Bakersfield Figures in Case

Sensational Disclosures Are Scheduled to Come

BY A. M. ROCHLEY
Times Staff Correspondent
BAKERSFIELD, June 26.—John H. Vitelle, until recently, "His Excellency, the Exalted Cyclops of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," and the "Invisible Empire," were linked to each other here today during the examination of the prospective jurors called by Judge Vitelle for the brutal assault and torturing of Dr. Dwight R. Mason, a physician of Taft, forty miles from here, October 27 last.

In spite of the fact that the Ku Klux Klan is not mentioned in the indictment against Vitelle, the hooded order, characterized by Dist. Atty. J. R. Dorsey and his assistant, Dan F. Conway, as "the organization that takes the law into its own hands," was made the subject of exhaustive questioning of the first eighteen men and women called into the jury box today.

This is the second and by far the most important case against the Ku Klux Klan in Kern county. In the Mason outrage, according to the authorities, the people of Kern county were given an example of the "Invisible Empire" at work. The state expects to prove that the Mason beating had the sanction of the Klan as an organization, that the highest officer of the Klan led the masked mob and that all the passions and prejudices, characteristic of the mob were given organized expression in the torturing of Dr. Mason.

The significance of the Vitelle case, aside from the fact that this is the first trial of a Klan head for acts charged to the hooded organization, lies in the fact that Homer R. Pitts of Atlanta, the man who figured in the notorious Thomas case in the Ku Klux Klan capital, was the klansman whose efforts brought the Kern River klans into existence. Imperial Wizard Simmons asserted that in no case was blame for any overt act ever laid to the doors of the organization, it being put to the test in Judge J. W. Mahon's department here.

A panel of sixty was in court when the trial opened. The men and women citizens of Kern county, and members of the open, visible and fully constituted government of this state answered the roll call of the clerk without any attempt to hide their identities.

There were no "Knight Hawks" to advise them, no "Kladda" at the doors of the state court-house and no "Kladda" to direct them inside.

When the court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the state had used two of its five peremptory challenges and the defense six of its ten. The following were in the jury box at the end of the session: Earl Howard, former Councilman; Mrs. Francis

PROHIBITION FORCES HIT BY DECISION

Court Ruling Probably Will Alter Enforcement Officers' Methods

A blow to Federal prohibition enforcement officers was delivered yesterday by U. S. District Judge Bledsoe in a ruling on the case involving the arrest recently of the two owners of the old Puma winery and the confiscation of large quantities of wine from their place of business.

The decision, it is believed, is the first of its kind handed down by a Federal judge on the point at issue and will probably set a precedent in future cases of a similar nature. It is stated:

Louis Guerrieri and Ambrose Mitchell, the winery proprietors, were arrested in a raid conducted by C. H. Wheeler, former prohibition officer in this district who confiscated quantities of liquor as evidence. The arrests were made on a search warrant. In an affidavit for the search warrant, Prohibition Officer Wheeler stated it had been obtained on an affidavit of a third party, who stated he purchased brandy from the Puma winery.

Robert O'Connor, former U. S. Attorney, and John F. Burton, attorneys representing the winery proprietors, filed a motion to quash the search warrant, and asking that the seized property be returned to the owners.

Judge Bledsoe sustained the motion yesterday and restricted the U. S. Attorney from making use of any evidence obtained pursuant to the search warrant.

STEAL MAYOR'S AUTO BATTERY

How "John Sney" Taken From Machine Lost on Boulevard

Thieves stole the battery from Mayor Cramer's automobile early yesterday morning while the car was parked on the street in front of the home of Mrs. Cramer's mother, Mrs. A. M. Gay, 1123 Windsor Boulevard.

Mayor and Mrs. Cramer called on Mrs. Gay on Sunday evening. When the Mayor started to drive home the starter would not work and the car refused to budge. So the Mayor left his car on the street and he and Mrs. Cramer went home on a street car. A policeman came along during the night and carefully removed all cushions and accessories and carried them into Mrs. Gay's home for safekeeping. Yesterday morning it was discovered that the battery, which was a new one, had been stolen.

CHALLENGES USED

When the court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the state had used two of its five peremptory challenges and the defense six of its ten. The following were in the jury box at the end of the session: Earl Howard, former Councilman; Mrs. Francis

CAN DISCHARGE OFFICERS

Wade declares also that Clarke and Savage so manipulated the recent Ku Klux Klouventure and sessions of the Imperial Palace that Clarke is also in possession of power to discharge any imperial officer he dislikes without regard to loyalty or efficiency.

Wade's statement says that conditions in the Imperial Palace are such that it is "impossible for me to continue under same."

No doubt a pleasant time was had by all.

Amos, of Hollywood, persists, but will not sign her initials. Ray came up from San Diego recently in a Ray coach. While traveling the last June outside the station here she heard one say: "Wait, this is only the skimmed milk; the cream from the chair car will be along in a minute." Amos' been feeling blue ever since!

C. H. M. sharp-eyed Corcoran, was mystified at this from the Lake Elsinore paper: "Wanted—Girl to do housework during July, 28 mornings and evenings." C. H. M. declares too much tempus will have fled by the time the girl has finished thirty-eight mornings and evenings to make her much use during July.

A. H. saw lots of things that he called her risibilities while motor-touring Sunday. One was this sign on a church bulletin: "Rev. John P. The Great Disappointment." Rough on the pastor, wouldn't you say? But candid.

F. A. W. found this in the Los Angeles Journal last Saturday: "Order of the Harbor Commission . . . granting franchise to operate a fairy." John, John, John Grimm.

G. W. H. says there were big dogs in Vinal on Flag Day. He gives it by a clip from the Vinal paper. According to that journal the night spot of the afternoon came when "Columbia, the Germ of the Ocean, was rendered by Joe E. Joseph in his usual attractive style." No doubt a pleasant time was had by all.

PROHIBITION FORCES HIT BY DECISION

Court Ruling Probably Will Alter Enforcement Officers' Methods

A blow to Federal prohibition enforcement officers was delivered yesterday by U. S. District Judge Bledsoe in a ruling on the case involving the arrest recently of the two owners of the old Puma winery and the confiscation of large quantities of wine from their place of business.

The decision, it is believed, is the first of its kind handed down by a Federal judge on the point at issue and will probably set a precedent in future cases of a similar nature. It is stated:

Louis Guerrieri and Ambrose Mitchell, the winery proprietors, were arrested in a raid conducted by C. H. Wheeler, former prohibition officer in this district who confiscated quantities of liquor as evidence. The arrests were made on a search warrant. In an affidavit for the search warrant, Prohibition Officer Wheeler stated it had been obtained on an affidavit of a third party, who stated he purchased brandy from the Puma winery.

Robert O'Connor, former U. S. Attorney, and John F. Burton, attorneys representing the winery proprietors, filed a motion to quash the search warrant, and asking that the seized property be returned to the owners.

Judge Bledsoe sustained the motion yesterday and restricted the U. S. Attorney from making use of any evidence obtained pursuant to the search warrant.

STEAL MAYOR'S AUTO BATTERY

How "John Sney" Taken From Machine Lost on Boulevard

Thieves stole the battery from Mayor Cramer's automobile early yesterday morning while the car was parked on the street in front of the home of Mrs. Cramer's mother, Mrs. A. M. Gay, 1123 Windsor Boulevard.

Mayor and Mrs. Cramer called on Mrs. Gay on Sunday evening. When the Mayor started to drive home the starter would not work and the car refused to budge. So the Mayor left his car on the street and he and Mrs. Cramer went home on a street car. A policeman came along during the night and carefully removed all cushions and accessories and carried them into Mrs. Gay's home for safekeeping. Yesterday morning it was discovered that the battery, which was a new one, had been stolen.

CHALLENGES USED

When the court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the state had used two of its five peremptory challenges and the defense six of its ten. The following were in the jury box at the end of the session: Earl Howard, former Councilman; Mrs. Francis

CAN DISCHARGE OFFICERS

Wade declares also that Clarke and Savage so manipulated the recent Ku Klux Klouventure and sessions of the Imperial Palace that Clarke is also in possession of power to discharge any imperial officer he dislikes without regard to loyalty or efficiency.

Wade's statement says that conditions in the Imperial Palace are such that it is "impossible for me to continue under same."

APPROVES CITY PENSION PLAN

Municipal League Seeks New Scientific System

Opposes Scheme of Firemen and Policemen

Union Council's Action for Full Investigation

After its approval to a modern scientific method of pensioning city employees, but stating its opposition to the amendments proposed by the firemen and policemen, the Municipal League yesterday forwarded to the city council a comprehensive statement regarding the municipal pension system.

The statement points out that the pension system is piling up a deficit estimated to amount to $1,500,000, and says that it should be a complete reform of the system. The league committee is taking action to bring about a complete investigation of the pension system.

The report of City Efficiency Director Bridges strongly emphasizes the importance of the league for the pension system and that the present pension system is piling up a tremendous deficit of $1,500,000 being paid by Mr. Eldridge as the pension deficit up to date.

That notwithstanding this huge deficit, the firemen and policemen are endeavoring by initiative petition to get over the heads of the city council and force the pension system to them of still greater pensioning over $400,000 under our system next year's cost of these pension benefits, as estimated by city efficiency director, based on your pay roll in those departments.

FILE PETITIONS

Initiative petitions with 40,000 signatures asking that charter amendments be placed before the voters for their consideration, were filed yesterday afternoon with the city clerk, George A. Reynolds, who will start the process of checking and verifying the signatures.

Under the law, 25,000 bona fide signatures of voters must appear on the petitions in order to place amendments before the voters. The 40,000 signatures are being gathered through checking to a figure of 25,000, the committee believes will be sufficient to place the amendments before the voters.

The amendments to be placed before the voters are: That the city council be authorized to make such changes in the charter as may be necessary to secure the most efficient government of the city; That the city council be authorized to make such changes in the charter as may be necessary to secure the most efficient government of the city; That the city council be authorized to make such changes in the charter as may be necessary to secure the most efficient government of the city.

SEES INJUSTICE

Understanding the fact that the pension system is piling up a deficit estimated to amount to $1,500,000, and says that it should be a complete reform of the system. The league committee is taking action to bring about a complete investigation of the pension system.

THE FRONT OF IT

Four years has Russia wallowed in the slough of Communism. Immenseable stories, picturesque, sensational, condemnatory, apologetic, have been written about these years of mystery and horror and still the world at large awaits a definite show-down in this monster experiment with the theories of Karl Marx.

At least, so many affirm, the system has survived the undoubted suffering inflicted on the victims of this social vivisection. But what has the experiment proved? Nikolai Lenin is a very sick man. If he dies the cause of Russian Communism will find itself in desperate straits. Out of a hundred and fifty million people, all supposedly rendered free and equal by this colossal experiment, there is none to take his place. The whole Red structure, built on the denial of the individual and the apotheosis of the mob, risks crashing to the ground with the snuffing out of one individual life.

Think of it! What a delicious piece of irony! What a stupendous paradox! What a wonderful advertisement for the theories of Karl Marx!

Four years devoted to the exaltation of individuality and the substituting of mass formation has produced—what? Not a host of ants, not a hive of bees, where no one worker has a greater value than another, but the creation of one Nietzschean super-man.

It is as though some naturalist had set out to fill the ocean with millions of sprats and after four years of desperate endeavor and prodigious labor had come up with a single, magnificent, enormous whale. For the Red propagandists sadly admit that the Communist chariot cannot run without a king pin.

No autocracy ever initiated so absolute a one-man regime. Lenin was the sole planet in the Marxian firmament. Trotsky his dark satellite, the Russian people but millions of specks in a Milky way. Such is the admission, wrong reluctantly from the Russian side, reading with dismay and apprehension the reports of the German doctors on the sick man in Moscow.

Could the imp of the perverse have played a more sardonic trick to expose the fallacy of the Karl Marx theories? Were there ever engineers so absurdly "hoist by their own petard"?

They said, "Ninety-nine of the world's wealth is owned by one-tenth of the world's people. We will change all this. In Russia henceforth 100 per cent of the wealth shall belong to 100 per cent of the people."

So they proceeded to cut off all heads capable of rising above the level of the mass—except that of the lord high executioner. Then they passed around among the Russian people all that remained—100 per cent of the nation's poverty.

Evidently the one capable head left to direct the Russian chariot accounted for its inability to keep afloat so long.

Is not this an apt illustration of Trotsky's satirical verse:

"He that roars of liberty
Tighter binds the tyrant's power;
While the tyrant's selfish greed
Harries on the free hour."

For Russia under the Czar was never so entirely ruled by one man as it has been in the interest of the Communist principle. Under the old regime the cry was, "The King is dead—Long Live the King!" But when, by the inescapable decree of Providence, Nikolai Lenin is removed, the cry will be, "The King is dead—run every one for the tail timber!"

So we reach at least one conclusion from the Russian experiment. In no state politics can you remove the brain and expect the stomach to survive.

NOW ON NEVER FOR FRANCE
That France has an army of 350,000 men; that Europe now has an army of nearly 1,000,000 more soldiers than just before the World War are facts that Germany dearly loves to fling in the face of the world.

It is one of those uncomfortable facts that, mentioned in public, has no adequate answer. The family can take you privately into the back room and tell you privately the reason; but, out in the public eye, Europe can only squirm in its chairs and become absorbed in the decorations on the chandeliers.

The real truth is, of course, that France faces a bleak and dangerous military future.

Her home-grown army, because of her relatively small population, is unequal to the demands of a war with Russia, Germany or England. In the event of a war without strong allies France would be compelled to look to her African colonies for men.

She has the men there, all right enough; but the problem of transporting them to the field of action looms as a terrible riddle of her future.

By the agreement made at the Washington Conference France is pledged to support the status quo in Italy. In other words, in facing the problem of bringing troops across the Mediterranean from Africa, France must face the possibility of holding off the Italian navy, which is her equal in strength. And in facing this problem one must remember that a navy entrusted with the task of conveying troops is severely handicapped, as against a foot-loose naval force.

But even this is not the measure of the war problem of France. It must be remembered that she has two coasts. She does not know against what combinations her future wars must be fought. In considering its possibilities she must be prepared to give naval protection to her Atlantic seaboard and to her Mediterranean coast at the same time.

To reduce these hypotheticals to blunt military facts it would be impossible for France to meet these strategic necessities. Her only hope would be in fortunate alliances which would yield her strong military assistance. As her present national aims run counter to nearly every other European power, the prospects do not look bright for military co-operation.

With her usual clearheadedness France looks into the future and sees little there of military safety.

Therefore she stakes her all on the present, when fortuitous circumstances find her in possession of a military predominance that will never be hers again.

France knows that it is "now or never" for her. Therefore she shuts her eyes to the reproachful pointing fingers of the world and keeps 800,000 soldiers under arms.

Summer's Little Sorrows - - No. 1

THOMAS EDISON OUGHT TO BE ABLE TO DO SOMETHING WITH THE MAGNETIC POWER IN A PAIR OF "ICE CREAM PANTS."

GREEN SPOTS
How refreshing are the "green spots" that dot our landscape in the summer time: standing out in marked contrast to the brown of the nearby hills, the meads, the valley floors; the light blue of the sky; the purple of the mountains; the gray of the washes; and the white of the long stretches of sand along the seashore.

The walnut orchards, especially in the older orchards where the spread of the branches is of such extent that they interwine and are so dense that hardly a ray of sunlight can penetrate to the clearly tilted ground beneath. The peach, the apricot, the apple, cherry, fig orchards are in full leaf with a foliage of such vivid green that some persons see in it a tinge of black.

The vines in the older vineyards seem to cover the entire ground surface with a mass of bright green leaves. The field crops—sugar beets, corn and alfalfa—are as fresh as the fields of the East in June. The orchards and most of the field and vegetable crops have to be irrigated, but the hardy bean, all summer through sprouts over thousands and thousands of acres of land in Southern California with a green cover the moisture to sustain which is, for the most part, provided by nature.

The naturally moist river bottom lands are lined with willows; above and along the meads where the streams break through mountains, and in the natural basins, the wild vegetation and pasture lands remain green the year round. Even the small, dry channels cutting across the running streams of the mountain canyons are lined with alders and brambles of green bushes, vines, ferns and other plants. High up in the mountains one finds the small but beautiful meadows, with its slope of green interspersed with flowers of gorgeous hues.

In the city proper we have grown so fast that we have not had as much need to spend on parks as we would like, yet green is to be found in many places. Almost every house has a lawn in front of it and many have in addition one in the rear. Pershing Square is a "green spot" in the heart of the city. Its lawns and shade trees are appreciated by thousands daily.

JAPAN AND SIBERIA
Cable dispatches from Tokio report that Japan is about to evacuate Siberia. The trouble is, Japan has so often evacuated Siberia. Siberia seems to be a reversed version of the widow's mite. Every time Japan evacuates Siberia the total number of Japanese there seems to increase and the total amount of territory occupied seems to materially spread out. If Japan continues to evacuate Siberia under the same terms the Rising Sun flag will be found floating all over Asia.

Japan, in truth, is playing a desperate game. She is losing faith and popularity with every power in the Orient and the Occident. Presently she will find herself isolated and alone.

Undoubtedly the Japanese government is fully cognizant of this dangerous prospect. She realizes, however, that as opportunity lies this to acquire territory and commercial room will never come again. China is rising in power; Europe will not remain forever feeble in her own ashes. What advantages she does not now seize will be lost to her forever. Therefore she is willing to take a desperate chance on the displeasure of the rest of the civilized world.

PLASTIC FINANCE
The old idea that a man can lift himself out of the mire by his bootstraps seems to have been adopted as the financial policy of Austria—with the fatal exception that Austria has no boots. But, at any rate, the Austrian idea appears to be to put every man on the government pay roll in a job of some kind and then let him have a press to print all the paper money to cover the salary he is coming. As a result of this feverish competition a roll of embossed wall paper is worth much more than the same paper when it is printed as Austrian crowns. With everybody working for the government the government is being overworked.

YOUR HIDDEN POWERS

BY JAMES OPPENHEIM

If I remember rightly Olive Schreiner tells the story in her book, "Dreams." A woman goes to become a mother wanders out over the veldt and is lost in a mist. The mist takes the shape of a mighty presence. "If I touch you," it says, "your child will find wealth." She passes on. A second shape speaks: "If I touch you, your child will find fame." And so on. But finally a strange shape appears. "And if I touch you," it says, "your child will have neither fame nor wealth, power nor success. But he will always see a light beyond the horizon, and he will always hear a voice calling him. And he will set after the voice and the vision; but, as he reaches them and is succeeding, lo, beyond the horizon a new light and in his ears a new voice. And he must leave what he is doing and go." And the woman weeps. "But what gift will my child receive?" "This," the woman weeps. "Touch me," she says. And the shape touches her. That is the intuitive type. It is the type that follows the ideal, that always "itches its wagon to a star." Thus it is apt to be true to a vision, but fickle with facts. Hardy, in his novel, "The Well-Beloved," pictures such an intuitive. His hero is a sculptor who finds that he loves the dream of a woman, never the real woman. He loves really a goddess, and he thinks he finds this goddess now in this woman, now in that. But the woman turns out to be no woman, and he must seek further. Since he cannot find this dream of a woman, he is forced to create her. So he shapes clay to his dream. In short, he is fickle with women, but true to his love. And this, indeed, is the artist, and one reason why he produces his art.

LIVING IN IMAGINATION
The deep point is this: That this earth, and the people of this earth, all that is real, are things almost monstrous to the intuitive. He is the imaginative among ideal things. He is seeking "the kingdom of heaven," the spiritual. He is the spiritual type. To him "the world, the flesh and the devil" are all one, as opposed to the realist of the God. He is the seeker of the God.

Naturally, then, he is the artist, the religious prophet, the seer, the great lover. His creed is love and self-sacrifice. His love must always look up. He has the childlike in him that worships and adores.

We see the type pure once in a while. There is Joan of Arc, for instance. She follows and she leads. And in the end she gladly dies in flame with the ecstasy of the true martyr. To her heaven is real and the earth merely a dark shadow that must pass. Her type is rarely pure, especially in the modern world. In our modern world we demand that everyone learn to live among people and accept life as it is. Girls and boys are taught to work and to accept the common burden of every day. As a result the intuitive cannot surrender himself to his vision; he cannot go into a cloister or a cave, apart from others, and dwell in his dreams. So he does his best to be like other people, and out of this grows a struggle in himself. If he tries to be worldly he is exalted, charming, rich; if he follows the principle of power instead of the principle of love he feels as if he were betraying himself, as if he were Judas to the Christ in himself. But it is a struggle against worldliness and success, and gives himself up to the inner world, he comes to a contempt for himself because he is a failure and not really a grown-up human being.

THE INTUITIVE'S MOODS
This is the cause of his "moods." The intuitive is always moody. At times he is exalted, charming, delightful, sweet-tempered, expectantly loving; at other times he is depressed, gloomy, even black with despair, and at such times he may even rage against others. It is a series of joy and sorrow. Since he cannot live with his dream of the God he, like Hardy's hero, makes a God of a woman or a man. When he does this his love for this person has adoration in it. He is then, to himself, that person and almost loses his own self in the other. But the other, of course, is not a god, and the bitter moment comes when the intuitive discovers that he is adoring and yearning to something of the earth. He is ashamed that he has abused himself. And now he must strike the other in order to regain his own freedom. This is the conflict the intuitive has with other people.

You see how, after all, we must come to the conclusion that human nature is a faulty affair. The thinking type is apt to be cold, to lack love, to be ruthless and stolid; the feeling type is apt to be too practical, too prosaic, too of the earth earthy, the sensualist is apt to be selfish, a pleasure-seeker, sacrificing everything to a momentary thrill, and the intuitive is the most ideal of the types, is apt to alternate its beautiful love and understanding with the darkest moods and the most bitter enmities.

Where the intuitive has greatness the race is given the great consolations of religion, the help of new discoveries and inventions, and that clearest of all our joys, art. This country, for instance, had a great intuitive in Walt Whitman. He was a radiant human being, breathing health and joy, with a capacity for love which was startling. His love went out to all the human beings about him and to the earth and even the sky. He was a radiant human being. His book, "Leaves of Grass," is a great vision of democracy, the prophecy of a great America. But he showed himself a true intuitive. ### SENSATIONAL FINISH OF NEW YORK BOUT THROWS FISTIANA IN UPROAR

BENNY LEONARD COMMITS FOUL ON JACK BRITTON

Welter Champ Gives Lightweight Title-Holder Severe Lacing in New York Ring

By HARRY NEWMAN (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, June 26.—Jack Britton, the welterweight champion, won from Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, in the thirteenth round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout at the Bronx Velodrome tonight. Britton had given Leonard severe lacing up to the moment that Leonard sent over the laced foul blow.

They were mixing in a scrum in the thirteenth round, with Britton away-out in the lead. In the scrum Britton went down with a light left and from the lightweight champion. As he was in that position, looking up at the referee, Leonard deliberately struck Britton with lefts and rights to the face. Immediately there was great excitement. The side of both men climbed into the ring, making wild claims in decisions, but the referee was very dissatisfactory ending with a decision which appeared to be Britton's way.

The welterweight Britton did not seem pleased. In the fight, he was a veritable sucker out of Gilman's champion. There was one round in which Leonard seemed in front and that was the eleventh round. Then he struck the veteran Jack when he was on his feet and left to the referee. For a brief period he ap- peared to have Britton on the mat, but the only time during the fight when Leonard was in front.

STROKES AT WILL. Both men had the lightweight beaten right along. He was beaten and Leonard to swell. Repeatedly he drove into a neutral corner or pushed him with lefts and rights to face and body until he was in a very worried state. The blow that sent Britton down in the thirteenth round was a puzzle to the spectators.

Both men were working fast. Leonard was working fast. Leonard was working fast.

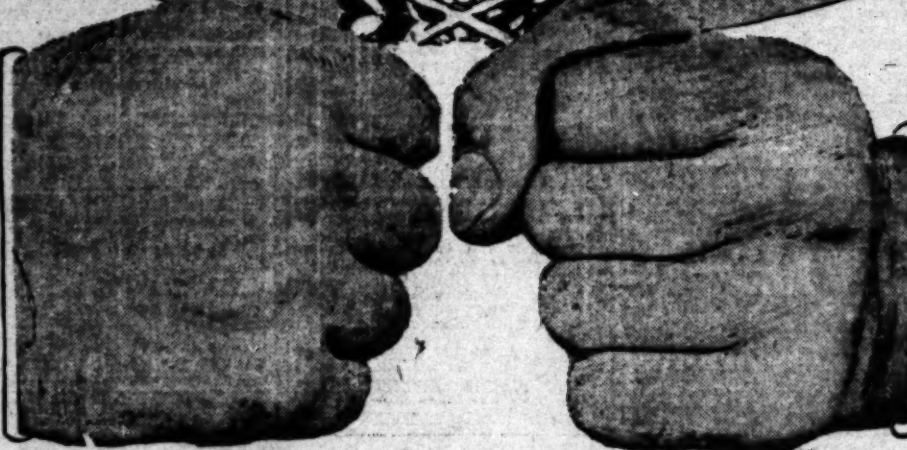

Leonard was working fast. Leonard was working fast. Leonard was working fast.

Leonard was working fast. Leonard was working fast. Leonard was working fast.

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENED

Britton, on the offensive, brought Leonard into a neutral corner with rights and lefts to head and body. In coming out of this trouble Leonard tripped on his own foot and fell backward to the canvas as Britton stepped away. The lightweight champion regained his feet and then Britton started another attack. Leonard backed around the ring and they fell into a clinch in Britton's corner. There were a few blows passed to the head and, as the referee walked around, Britton broke away and went down to his knees, facing his corner. He motioned to his seconds to claim a foul. Then Leonard, who had walked to the other side of the ring, walked around the referee, struck Britton a light blow to the body and shouted to the referee to count. The seconds of both men rushed into the ring and Haley, the referee, waved both men to their corners. It was then announced that Leonard had committed a technical foul, striking Britton while he was on his knees. The welterweight champion was unhurt.

He's Still Lightweight Champ Anyway

Benny Leonard and His Potent Mitts
Benny tried to take in a little too much territory last night when he tackled old Jack Britton in New York and the veteran gave him a mighty struggle up to the moment when he was laid low by a foul on the part of the lightweight champion.

MIDDIES WIN BIG REGATTA

Repeat Victory of Last Year at Poughkeepsie

Washington Finishes Second to Flying Navy Shell

Annapolis Crew Sets New World's Record

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBER.)

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.), June 26.—The United States naval academy eight-oared crew is still intercollegiate rowing champion of America. In the greatest aquatic battle ever witnessed on the Hudson, the middies this afternoon repeated their triumph of 1921 by winning the three-mile varsity race from the greatest collection of college shells that ever rowed in a similar race in the history of the sport.

Forced to terrific speed by the repeated challenges of Cornell, Washington and Syracuse, the sailors from the Severn finally emerged victors by one length over the University of Washington eight.

Eight champions of all Pacific Coast. Since a length behind the far-coast shell came Syracuse and Cornell, so closely locked that it was only after long discussion among the judges at the finish that the former was awarded the third place over the Ithaca combination. Outdistanced almost from the start, Columbia and Pennsylvania fought out a duel of their own to avoid last place, and in this the New York collegians were successful, leading the Quakers across the line long after the other shells had ceased their forward headway.

So bitter and grueling was the struggle almost from the start opposite the Columbia boathouse bridge and forward through the last mile in a lane lined with yachts, excursion steamers, submarines and submarine chasers, that the midshipmen-sweepers were forced to shelter all college rowing records in their efforts to hold the lead. As the prow of the Navy shell shot across the line, the time caught the judges' crew in the remarkable figures of 13m. 35.3s., thus shattering by more than half a minute the record made by the sailor shell when they won last year by a full five lengths from California in 14m. 1s.

DESPERATE SPURT

The Seattle collegians after one of the most desperate spurts ever witnessed in an intercollegiate rowing association regatta, finished in 15m. 35.1s. These times, remarkable times as they are, fall even partially to tell the story of the thrilling battle, of blades witnessed by fully 15,000 spectators in the feature.

The shells got away at 6:40 to a perfect start. Cornell caught the water first with an even 40 stroke and her prow showed a trifle in front of the Navy as they rowed respectively in courses No. 4 and No. 5.

Syracuse in No. 1 lane was third, and Washington in No. 3, was fourth. Once straightened away, the best dropped gradually from 12 to 18, and at the half-mile post Cornell was setting the pace, a quarter length in front. One length behind the sun-tanned sailors, Syracuse, Columbia and Washington were rowing stroke for stroke, with hardly a foot advantage. Pennsylvania was already beginning to draw away. Navy, unaccustomed to rowing in the second position, raised its stroke to a fast 40 and began to show the power of its blade and leg work and it moved into third place, three-quarters of a length back of the Annapolis shell, with Syracuse a close fourth, and Columbia slipping back to join Pennsylvania.

Between the mile and the mile and a half post a terrific struggle ensued between Cornell and the middies. The Ithacans were still maintaining a 35 beat, while the Navy was close to 35.

CREEP UP

Slowly, but surely, the future admirals cut down the Red and White advantage until they had a three-foot lead at the mile and a half mark, with Cornell three-quarters of a length ahead of Washington, the westerners having

JOHNNY DUNDEE WILL BATTLE JACK SHARKEY

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBER.)

NEW YORK, June 26.—Johnny Dundee, junior lightweight champion, and Jack Sharkey today signed for a world's title 15-round bout at Ebbetts Field in Brooklyn on the night of July 4. Both agreed to weigh in at 125 pounds at 2 p.m. the day of the fight.

BULLDOGS AND BEARS TO MIX

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBER.)

BERKELEY, June 26.—The University of Redlands will play the California varsity football team at Berkeley October 7. It was announced today at the university here. This game is the only change from the conference schedule made last fall after the close of the playing season. The intercollegiate game with Stanford will take place at Stanford November 25.

DANNY TO BOX WITH TOUGH KID

Kramer Takes on "Red" Dolan at Jack Doyle's Emporium Tonight

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBER.)

Little Danny Kramer, who has been stepping along at a fast pace in the ranks of the local four-rounders, will again furnish one end of the main event of the week's boxing show at Vernon tonight. This time he will stack up against "Red" Dolan and unless all signs fail, it will be a fight from start to finish. Perhaps Dolan isn't the best key of his weight in the world, but he figures to give Danny a nice run for first honors.

A week ago Kramer beat Ernie Goetzman, turning the trick in neat style. Any fellow who can sock Ernie for a row in a short bout is a puncher to be respected. Two 115-pounders are down for the semi-wind-up. Teddy Silva and Jimmy Callahan being matched for a bout that gives promise of furnishing at least a little action. Silva is a pleasing performer and the same may be said of Callahan.

Gene Cline and Steve Ellis are scheduled to tangle in the feature preliminary. It should be a slugging match, one that figures to furnish a few thrills during the twelve minutes of milling.

Fourth on the card are Eddie Gorman and Jimmy Barry. They will weigh in at 125 pounds. Other battles listed follow:

Jack Martin vs. Jack Moore, 135 pounds; Pete Herman vs. Lee Mason, 115 pounds; and Tommy Connor vs. Al Ray, 135 pounds. George Blake will be the third man in the ring.

COURT ORDERS "TUT" TO KEEP OUT OF RING

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBER.)

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE (O. J.) June 26.—"Tut" Jackson, negro heavyweight fighter, who was to have met Jack Johnson, negro, former world heavyweight champion, here July 4, was ordered today by Judge C. A. Hall to refrain from appearing in a prize fight contemplated here for July 4. Jackson will be placed under bond as a guarantee that the court's order will be followed out.

Bunny Ryan Also Looms as a Dangerous Foe

(BY GALE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LONDON, June 26.—Miles Lane Langdon, the French tennis star, in a statement given to the Associated Press this afternoon declared she had definitely and finally decided to play through the singles at the Wimbledon tournament, and that under no circumstances would she default and match. She added that she was in splendid health.

Under inclement weather conditions, with King George, the Queen Mary present, play in the Wimbledon grass-court championships began this afternoon. In the first round, the French star, Miss Lane Langdon, defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory in the first of the Wimbledon tournament after an historic battle. A few months later Mrs. Mallory won from Miss Lane Langdon after taking a set from her when the French champion was forced to retire from the match due to a sudden coughing spell. As the eyes of the tennis world are centered on these two fair players, hoping that they may again meet and make use of her all-time long-standing rivalry.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan of Santa Monica, Cal., is also considered as a serious contender for the French girl's crown.

California Yacht Club Will Meet Santa Barbara in Big Regatta

SEA MEWS IN FEATURE RACE

Regatta Committee Arranges Varied Program

To Hold Doings in Channel City Waters

(SPECIAL DISPATCH.)
SANTA BARBARA, June 26.—Arrangements have been completed for an interclub sailing regatta to be held here July 4 between the Santa Barbara Yacht Club and the California Yacht Club of Los Angeles. Commodore Earle Ovington of the local organization stated today that competition will be featured by races between the new fleets of the two clubs, although a number of events have been arranged to make the program interesting.

The Santa Barbara Yacht Club owns ten new masts, which are all exactly the same, and the California Yacht Club has built five of this one-design class for the special purpose of competing with Santa Barbara.

July Fourth in the home waters will see the first clash between these two clubs. A fleet of five boats from each scrapping for the interclub championship. There will also be a number of individual races over different courses between these same boats. Benjamin J. Weston, who is the skipper of the sailing division of the California Yacht Club, is marshalling his crew and they are getting in practice with the new masts preparatory to meeting their friendly rivals, who have had considerable time to tune up between races.

LOTS OF SPORT
Commodore Ovington says that two new races have been planned already, and that he has had more fun with these little boats than anything in the boat line since he left Los Angeles. Commodore Ovington won the first race on a fault and was too good a sportsman to take it. The second was sailed over at which time the commodore got second.

Commodore Ovington has written the California Yacht Club and as many boats as it wishes and they will match them boat for boat.

At Least Twenty San Joaquin Golfers to Contend in Del Monte Tilt

(SPECIAL DISPATCH.)
DEL MONTE, June 26.—A report comes from Fresno that the San Joaquin Valley is to be represented with twenty or more golfers in the annual Independence Day tournament, which starts at Del Monte this coming Saturday, with a qualifying round of eighteen holes and runs until the following Tuesday. Elliott Calendar, the tall player who won last year, is expected to be among the number, and in addition there will be Arthur Goodfellow, J. A. Reiser, Judge Carey and a number of others.

The prospects are that the best field of golfers in the history of the Del Monte tournament will be on hand. The prospective entries are Jack Neville, Arthur (Bunker) Vincent, Hugh Haisell, George S. Carpenter, Paul T. Carroll, John Francis Neely, Jack Rittenhouse and Charles W. Goodwin.

ARE WELL KNOWN
There will also likely be a number of well-known women players who will take part in the match play competition, which has been arranged.

Following the Independence Day tournament, golfers' attention will be centered on the State junior championship, which is to take place at Del Monte on July 15 to 17.

The summer golf tournament at Del Monte on August 25 to 27, which is a sort of preliminary to the State championship in September, promises to attract a good entry.

PORTLAND UNLOADS
SARGENT TO BUSHES

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
PORTLAND (Or.) June 26.—Joe Sargent, an insider, has been sold to Birmingham in the Southern Association, according to announcement made today by W. H. Klepper, president of the Portland baseball club. Bud Connolly, a player recalled from Tacoma, will play Sargent's position hereafter, Klepper said.

REFUSE OFFERS
(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
CINCINNATI (O.) June 26.—Two offers were made today to Alford Vogler of Cincinnati, owner of Whitehawk, which ran second to Whiskey and defeated Morvich Saturday in the Latonia special race. K. Spence offered $50,000 in behalf of Montford Jones, and Kirk Harrington, $40,000 on behalf of the Trotter stable. Both offers were refused and it is reported that the club's net for sale. He will run in the Latonia derby Saturday.

"Looks like a cline for you," shot a fan at Bill Eiseck right after Vernon had won five in a row from Portland.

"There is no such thing as a cline in baseball," replied the Tiger manager.

What recalls the guiding motto of the late Harry C. Pulliam, president of the National League. "Take nothing for granted in baseball" started at the visitor from the desk of Mr. Pulliam.

One need not think back more than a few months to find the value of this warning illustrated.

San Francisco was leading the league by a dozen games last July, and San Francisco took it for granted that it would win the pennant. Los Angeles won the pennant which San Francisco had been claiming. Overconfidence, carelessness, killed the Seal chances.

Many have failed to profit by the principle enunciated by the late Mr. Pulliam. One notable and particularly horrible example were the Athletics in 1914. They took it for granted they would win the world series. A short time later most of Connie Mack's stars were placed on the auction block.

Take a manager who realizes there are no clinches in baseball and keeps on remembering it, who can instill this thought in his players and can get them to respond to the idea, and you will find him a manager who is a majority of seasons will have his club among the real contenders.

Any club which plays with this in mind is a dangerous club and will win a majority of its games. Of course, any team remembering it how hard it tries, must have a degree of ability. But fair ability with eternal hunting will win more games than superlative skill with a tendency to let down.

Almost any ball club keyed up in the face of a tough or important series will as a rule exert itself to the utmost. But pennants seldom are won off tough teams. Most of the fattening as a rule is done off the weak clubs, or should be. But frequently a series which should be almost a clinch is lost because it was regarded as an absolute clinch.

Certain teams, after winning three or four games straight, seem invariably to ease down and lose away a couple. This season we have seen at least two series which should have been a clean sweep made fourth close by the victors.

The average ball team loses away from a dozen to thirty games every season. These few teams which do not let away the easy games and try for the hard ones win pennants.

To instill this spirit through a long season is one of the hardest tricks in baseball.

An overreadiness to succumb to discouragement is entirely too prevalent in the Coast League.

Sacramento, a pretty fair ball club, seems simply to have curled up. Seattle and Portland show lack of bustle. In their two appearances here the Swashes have displayed little or no outward evidence of a desire to win. The Beavers start out every day as though they would like to win, but a small reverse in the early innings seems to take it out of them. Two of their outfielders struck me as loafing on the base.

Portland possibly can be excused, as enough has happened to that outfit in one way or another this season to take the fight out of any team and cause it to chorus "What's the use?" It is difficult to alibi the Swashes. Seattle players pass the buck to McCredie. But a player cannot charge his own indifference efforts up to the manager. When he "lays down" on the manager he also is cheating the club owner, who pays his salary. It is the poorest sort of an alibi. To recognize it as a legitimate excuse would mean chaos in baseball. On every club there are players ready to rebel against the manager. If a manager is hopeless he should be discharged, but there should be no diminution of his authority when in office. A club owner must back his manager, just as a league president must back his umpire until such time as they become impossible.

Weak teams in the majors are dangerous, inasmuch as no game is regarded as over until the last man is out.

Salt Lake, like Oakland, is a club which continued to fight when apparently hopelessly out of the race. Remember how dangerous the Oaks were with their one big inning when last here?

Duffy Lewis has his club going again and, with added pitching, may be able to keep it in motion. Myers has been obtained from Boston and Betts from the Phillies since the Bees were last here. Pinwheel Cartwright is no longer with the club, but Paul Strand has been translated into a first baseman. Never saw him in action there, but he is built for the job. Will know more about the rejuvenated Salt Lake club after today, starting observations at Washington Park this afternoon.

Dempsey and Kearns are doing considerable complaining about the attitude of the New York State Boxing Commission. That ripe readiness to meet Wills has been succeeded by querulous questionings. Fear that they won't get enough money, and that for a fight in the heart of the most thickly populated section on the face of the earth. Receipts there should go well toward satisfying even those who think that a champion should be guaranteed the better part of $500,000 before putting up his hands, hands which are of less real value than the hands of a mechanic's apprentice. Then they aver that two weeks isn't sufficient in which to arrange a fight of that magnitude. If—If the World War was started in less time than that.

EARLY GOLFERS DISAPPOINTED

A loud and vociferous wall is going up from the hundreds of golfers who are in the habit of using the municipal links at Griffith Park for their divot-digging activities.

It seems that the more enthusiastic of the golf bugs are accustomed to tee off just as the sun begins the day's work, and with the coming of summer the sun works longer than the employees of the municipal course.

In other words, the best time of the day to play is 5 a.m., according to several hundred madly waving, but the gates of the park remain closed until 8. Therefore the kick.

Last Sunday a very observing and early-rising addict to the sport counted no less than ninety-one cars lined up outside the gates at 5:30 a.m. A formal request to have the gates opened an hour earlier during the summer months has been drawn up in the form of a petition, which has already been signed by several dozen grievous early birds.

The petition follows: "To the Honorable Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Los Angeles:

"We, the undersigned, all of whom play upon and use the municipal golf links at Griffith Park, hereby petition your honorable board to permit said park to be opened to the public using same at the hour of 5 a.m. daily and Sunday, instead of 8 a.m. daily and Sunday, during the period intervening between July 1 and Oct. 3, 1932."

"This petition is made for the convenience of the general public using said golf links during that period of the year when the sun rises earlier, and to insure public safety because of the congestion at said links waiting for the 8 o'clock openings during this season of the year."

"Dated this 26th day of June, 1932."

HEAVIES SIGN TODAY

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
NEW YORK, June 26.—Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills are acting as representatives are going to sign on the dotted line tomorrow calling for a scrap between the two big bruisers some time between now and June 30, 1932. Tex Rickard and the gang had quite a powwow today and everything was settled except naming the battlefield. Rickard will name the scene for the jam in due time and then we will get the real low-down on who is the real heavyweight champion boxer of the universe.

Dempsey, who had just blown in from the West, stepped into an uptown gym today and went through a rough session of training stunts. Dan McKeltrick was a caller at the garden and as Dan

Johnson and Couch Hand in a Score of 72

Lead a Big Field in First Eighteen Holes

Many Are Under 80 on the Kansas City Links

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
HILLCREST COUNTRY CLUB, KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 26.—With scores of 72 each, one under par, for the course, Harrison R. Johnson of St. Paul and Ira L. Couch of Glenview, Chicago, led the field today in the first eighteen holes of the qualifying round of the annual Western Golf championship tournament being played over the Hillcrest Country Club course here.

Considered 74, the best of thirty-two players shot under eighty, which is a remarkable performance and goes to show the splendid class of amateur golfers it will take about 150 to land in the championship flight of thirty-two players.

The performance of young Couch was remarkable. He shot consistent golf today and gossip around the clubhouse said that the young star may prove the one to take the measure of the present champions in 1933.

PLAYS GREAT
Johnson also played splendid golf and had six on the sixth hole, which Couch made in four. Couch had one birdie and one eagle on the first nine, shooting the fourth in three, for the hole being five. On the second nine he had two birdies. Johnson shot three holes in one under par each on the first nine. On the second he had one birdie.

Charles "Chick" Evans of Edgewater, Chicago, present champion turned in a card of seventy-two. D. Davidson Herron, of Chicago, who won the national title a few years ago, and started to lead on the first nine and finally turned in a card of 78. He will have to shoot as well as better come tomorrow to land in the championship flight. If all of the other players go over the course as well as they did.

STEADY GAME
George Von Elm of Salt Lake City, trans-Mississippi champion and a dangerous contender for the title now held by Evans, shot 73. He played steady, consistent golf and was being played for the course.

Ray Outmet, Kansas City last year medalist in the Western amateur tournament, shot 74. He was tied by Jess S. Tuttle, of Milburn, Kansas City. Alexander Graham Wallington, Kansas, Kan. State champion, and Dexter Cummings of Owensville, Chicago, Richard Beckenbach, of St. Louis, who won the Missouri State championship in St. Joseph last week, shot 77. Also Clarence Wolff of St. Louis, 1931 Missouri champion, negotiated the course in 78.

Abe Espinoza Disqualified in Golf Tourney

DEL MONTE, June 26.—The disqualification of Abe Espinoza, San Francisco, at the thirty-seventh hole yesterday in the final round of the California professional golf tournament here was due to the fact that he picked a four-leaf clover and then brushed the line of putt with his hand, his friends here said today.

It was the only disqualification in the history of the tournament, and it has aroused considerable comment. The four-leaf clover incident is causing smiles, however, the Missouri State champion, who had started on a hot streak, was disappointed.

The State Professional Association announced today that of this kind of a foul play, Morris Dutra, to the national open championship, as California's representative. The president of the association, however, the match be replayed and that both Dutra and Espinoza be sent East.

SOULES IN RETURN BOUT WITH MARCUS

Bud Soules, the boy who was forced to kiss the canvas last week at Hollywood by Jimmy Marcus, will be given a chance to turn the tables on his bitter rival when the pair meet again at the American Legion Hollywood arena next Friday night. Matchmaker Frank Crowley stated a popular fight between the two.

GIRL WILL TRY CHANNEL SWIM

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Miss Ida Gutache of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde, nationally known long-distance swimmer, left for England to attempt to swim across the English Channel. She was accompanied by a well-known mermaid.

They boarded the steamer Rotterdam at New York. Their plans call for an extensive tour through the principal cities and countries of Europe and competition in foreign swimming events.

Ida Gutache has not yet set a date for the attempted swim of the channel. She and her sister will cover virtually the whole of Continental Europe in their travels and will enter any distance swimming events that are held in cities they visit.

TECHS TO PLAY AT SAN DIEGO

San Diego, June 26.—Negotiations for a baseball series here between last year's San Diego High School team and that of Cleveland West Tech were completed today by telegraph. Games will be played at the San Diego Stadium July 2 and 4, and a third game, if necessary, will be played July 3.

The San Diego team, which won the State honors last year, was the only one to defeat Cleveland, taking two straight games here last July. The Cleveland team telegraphed here last week asking that another series be arranged to give Cleveland a chance to wipe out the defeat. Stipulation was made that San Diego might use last year's players.

Cleveland's team is practically the same this year as last.

DAVID BREASTED THROUGH TWO MATCHES EASILY, WINNING THE FIRST FROM BLAKE OF GEORGIA TECH AND THE SECOND FROM SYMMINGTON OF TALE. DICK HICKLEY, THE THIRD STANFORD BOY, SMILED HIS WAY BY TWO MEN VERY HANDILY, BEATING ADSTEIN, A CRACK FROM NEW YORK UNIVERSITY, AND THEN LETTING DUN MANGUM FROM PENN.

Only one favorite lost today; that being Emerson of Columbia, Brown of Washington University of St. Louis doing the work in three hectic sets. The rest of the seeded athletes, through without much effort, although Evans, Harvard's best, had a close call with Parks of Oklahoma. The rest, Sanders, Jr., of Dartmouth; W. Brooks of Williams of Yale, and Howard of Princeton, had soft pickings.

Doables start tomorrow, and with the weather continuing to be as delightful playing weather as it was today, the courts will be slightly harder and therefore faster.

Fordney Won't Run Again
(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE.)
SAGINAW (Mich.) June 26.—Congressman Joseph W. Fordney, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and author of the Fordney tariff bill, announced positively this morning in a telegram to the Saginaw News Courier that he will not be a candidate for re-election. He plans to retire at the end of his present term, after twenty-four years of continuous service in Congress.

FAVORITES TRIUMPH IN NET EVENT

Phil Neer Enters Fourth Round of Play on Philadelphia Tennis Courts

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
HAVERFORD (Pa.) June 26.—Western tennis, as played by western college men, triumphed over eastern and southern tennis players here today in the opening rounds of the national intercollegiate tennis tournament. Seven out of a possible eight matches were won by those from the sun-kissed States, the only loss being by default when Welsh could not play on account of a severe cold, leaving three Stanford men, Neer, Davies and Hinesley, and Green of U.C. still in the running. The first three have reached the fourth round, but Green has yet to play his third. All won quite handily.

Neer won a default first. There were only two defaults in the whole day's play, which is quite a record when one considers the number of matches played. Neer's second match was with Gregory of Texas, which the champion won, 6-2, 6-4.

In the second set he hurt the torn muscles of his right leg again and had a difficult time hobbling around on one hoof, as Gregory is no slouch with the racket.

Davies breezed through two matches easily, winning the first from Blake of Georgia Tech and the second from Symington of Yale. Dick Hinesley, the third Stanford boy, smiled his way by two men very handily, beating Adstein, a crack from New York University, and then letting Dun Mangum from Penn.

Only one favorite lost today; that being Emerson of Columbia, Brown of Washington University of St. Louis doing the work in three hectic sets. The rest of the seeded athletes, through without much effort, although Evans, Harvard's best, had a close call with Parks of Oklahoma. The rest, Sanders, Jr., of Dartmouth; W. Brooks of Williams of Yale, and Howard of Princeton, had soft pickings.

Doables start tomorrow, and with the weather continuing to be as delightful playing weather as it was today, the courts will be slightly harder and therefore faster.

LEONARD FOULS JACK BRITTON

Leon Jack. It was at that particular stage as the men went around that they suddenly came with a rush into short quarters before the referee had a chance to break them. Britton sank to a knee position, in which Leonard afterwards sent over the punches which brought about the sudden termination of the contest.

From a poll taken at the ring-side there were very few who claimed to have seen the blow that sent Britton down and that is the puzzling part of the situation. Was the whole thing a farce? Opinions were varied as the crowd filed out of the big amphitheater and there was little satisfaction over the queer ending. Surely the boxing game cannot sustain such practices much longer.

John Leonard, younger brother of the lightweight ring king, won the judges' verdict over Sammy Marco in a four-round preliminary preceding the main event. This marked the youthful 130-pounder's debut into the professional ranks.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND ONE—Leonard, the champion, landed a left jab to the nose and Britton missed a right cross. Leonard then changed right and left to the body. Both fought bravely, but Leonard's left hand kept hitting Britton to keep away from the referee's decision. There were few times during the round.

ROUND TWO—Leonard landed a right punch to the jaw and won in a series of three rounds. Leonard continued with left to the head and right to the body. Leonard's left hand kept hitting Britton to keep away from the referee's decision. There were few times during the round.

MOTOR OIL

The Associated Oil Company announces a broadening of its activities in Southern California. For many years the name of the Associated Oil Company has been synonymous with the highest quality petroleum products. We have our own oil fields—our own refinery—and distributing facilities, with branch offices, in California, Oregon, Washington and Nevada.

Thousands of dealers and garages in these territories display our signs. Motorists in these parts have come to prefer our products because of their high quality. They look for our signs.

Cycol Motor Oil is the outcome of our policy to produce the highest quality product in its line. Thus Cycol is a leader in Motor Oils. This is because it is free from destructive "sulpho" compounds. These are the impurities which cause ordinary motor oils to break down rapidly under engine heat—thin out—cause faulty lubrication—pile up maintenance costs. For many years lubrication scientists have tried to find an economical process for removing these non-lubricating properties.

The new Hexeon Process, used only by us, is the answer.

Cycol Motor Oil has greater stability under engine heat. It maintains the essential film of oil between moving parts. There is less loss through heat evaporation—less carbon—less fuel and oil consumption. Cycol gives better engine performance—more power—and lessens frequent gear-shifting on the hills. With Cycol exclusively in your crank case, you can feel a new power in your engine—a new life—a determined, dogged pull—an eagerness to go. Cycol makes you feel satisfied with your engine.

The correct grade of Cycol to use in your engine is indicated on the Cycol Lubrication Chart. To get the best results, clean your crank case and refill with Cycol. The results will surprise you.

If your dealer can't supply you, write or phone us.

Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my oldest daughter had some terrible ailment as even before the first time I saw her her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school one day a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."

Mrs. W. M. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Del.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years, here are published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others in our neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

GIRLS .. SHOW .. CALIFORNIA .. GOWNS

Type of Apparel Designed for Western Women Will Be Exhibited

To Be Seen at Friday Morning Club's Fashion Show

BY MYRA NYE
DISTINCTLY California gowns designed by a California woman and worn by California girls will be the feature for the Friday Morning Club Fashion Show tonight in the clubhouse on Figueroa street near Ninth. Florence Ryerson, who designed the frocks to be shown, discovered that California women want an altogether western type of dress. "It is surprising," she said yesterday, "what a difference there is between the things worn in the East and those worn here. I design many dresses for women east of the Mississippi, but they are mostly for sports and Palm Beach wear. The women there want a more formal type of clothes than are worn here. As a result the eastern manufacturer does not completely supply the demands of the western woman. They cannot understand the life we lead out here and the kinds of clothes we like."

So tonight will be seen these distinctly western dresses. Lucile Nicholas in the light blue dotted Swiss with white organdie collar and cuffs and a sash trimmed in black. Katherine Woodside, dainty and chic even though it is a gingham she wears, will appear in a fashionable white and black check made dainty with organdie trimmings. Hildegard Seivens, whose mother as chairman of music during the past year has given some fine programs to the club, will be a symphony in rose and gold changeable taffeta with periwinkle blue flowers in her gold girle.

Margaret Woodside has a blue organdie trimmed with beige rings and sheerly fashioned flowers. She wears with this bit of feminine fluffiness an orchid ribbon sash. Elaine Osburne's blonde type will be set off by a Nile green taffeta made with the popular corded skirt, the old, yet new-fashioned basque for a bodice and a huge orange taffeta rose, the contrasting note of color set a little below the waist line.

All of these girls are the young women of the club or daughters of members. Mrs. Ryerson's mother, Mrs. Charles D. Willard, is a charter member of this large club. "And she wouldn't think anything of knocking anyone down and taking their money for the building fund," said her daughter, jocularly, "for this fashion show." Mr. Willard was a well-known Angeleno late in the eighties and early in the nineties. He was the first secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, having been a reporter on The Times and telegraph editor in those early days. He educated his daughter to write, sending her to Stanford then to Radcliffe. Later she studied costume with Sam Hume, who is now in charge of the Great Theater at Berkeley.

Beginning with the Red Cross shop during the war, this young woman's mind turned from the construction of sentences to the building of dresses. An account of her success with them will appear shortly in the Saturday Evening Post in an article entitled "Sitting in on the Garment Game."

Tonight there will be other kinds of dresses than the day-time organdie, five beautiful motion-picture stars appearing in them. After the program and revue of gowns there will be dancing. The public is invited.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

CORNS AND BUNIONS
Yesterday I gave you a little of my Balkan experiences with a soft corn. I agree that it is not always right shoes that cause corns for I have always worn shoes that are comfortable enough so that breaking in shoes is not in my experience.

My foot measures for a six and I always get a six and one-half. C. width and sometimes I have to fight it if I permit the shoe clerk to measure my foot. So my habit now is to go to a shoe store, ask if they have a 6 1/2, C width. In the model I desire and I never have any trouble breaking in shoes. It has always seemed to me that of all the foolish things that of getting shoes that hurt your feet is the most foolish. It is so patent that one has shoes that are too small and that hurt, and how silly it looks.

Shoes that are comfortable when you first wear them, keep their shape much better and do not look so large as shoes that have to be stretched to conform to the feet.

Get a model that has the straight inner line so that your large toe does not have to be distorted and pointed outward. Now, praise be to Allah, you can get good looking shoes that are comfortable and do not look so large as shoes that have to be stretched to conform to the feet.

I hope some time that shoes that deform the feet will not be made any more. We have laws that curb our personal liberties in other ways in things that are harmful, why not in the matter of shoes? We are dominated too much in a matter of style in everything by the great god Commerce. The idea that styles are matters of women's whims is a joke.

So was going to tell you more about corns in an old book written in 1818, on the art of preserving the feet, there is a section devoted to "The Painful Sensation Arising from Cuticular Excrescences." Cuticular Excrescences! Don't talk about your corns any more. Let's be elegant, and talk about our cuticular excrescences.

This author goes on to say that "the fashion of considering certain ailments as beneath the dignity of science is pernicious and the result has been that the neglected extremities of the system have been consigned to ignorant quacks or to absurd and vulgar prejudices. It trifles make up the sum of human misery. Don't you love that?"

So we have established that cuticular excrescences are worthy of our science. In truth, corns may cause death, and they have done so when they have become infected. Usually infection has been caused by cutting with an unsterile knife. Suppuration takes place in the little burr, called under the corn if it becomes infected, and this infection may extend into the joints and surrounding tissues, and finally into the general circulation.

In case of an infection like this, the corn should be removed, and the foot soaked in a solution of antiseptic on them—boric acid powder is good. Only sterile instruments should be used to pare corns. You can sterilize a knife by putting it through a flame two or three times.

It is really better not to pare corns, but to use a lotion to soften and then soak them off. Salicylic acid has the property of softening hardened cuticle and is usually the ingredient in the corn remedies on sale. Soak the feet before applying and then apply the solution at night and morning for three to five days; then the corns will grow soft and can be removed with a knife. If there is pressure for corns, like callouses, are really an effort of Nature against pressure.

BUNIONS
Bunions are always due to the wearing of shoes that do not fit, usually that are too short. Children especially should have shoes large enough to allow for their growing. Bunions are partial dislocations of the great toe from pressure. Eventually, the toe joint also becomes inflamed and the bursa or sack on the joint also becomes inflamed. Now may come a corn on that. This makes multiple misery. The only real cure for this is the operative removal of the projecting joint.

CORN REMEDY
Salicylic acid, I dram (about a level teaspoonful); Flexible collodion, 1 ounce; 10 grains cantharides may be added to relieve pain. Apply as explained above. Tomorrow—Foot Notes.

Danger in Aeroplanes
It is contended that one feature of the airplane industry is more dangerous to workers than the actual work of flying the finished machines. The indoor varnishing of the linen wings in order to make them waterproof and airproof involves the use of poisons which are often fatal to life under certain conditions. The only safe place in which to do the varnishing appears to be out of doors.—[Indianapolis News.]

The correct answer to Mr. Edison's question:

"What is Grape-Nuts made of?"
Answered by the makers of Grape-Nuts

THIS is one of a number of questions which Mr. Edison is putting applicants for an important position in his organization. We are happy to learn the interest shown in the food, Grape-Nuts, by a man of such attainments as Mr. Edison.

There has never been any secret about what Grape-Nuts is made of. It has been on the market for 24 years, and practically everybody knows its composition.

But inasmuch as such a simple, everyday question as "When did Columbus discover America?" is often incorrectly answered, it may be well to take this opportunity to restate the following facts about Grape-Nuts:

Grape-Nuts is a highly nourishing cereal food, made from a mixture of whole wheat flour, malted barley, salt and water. The mixture is raised by yeast, baked in loaves, then sliced, further baked, and then crushed into granules.

No food in the world is so thoroughly baked as Grape-Nuts. More than 20 hours are consumed in the various baking processes.

As every diet expert knows, this long baking brings about conversion of the carbohydrate elements, developing dextrin, maltose and dextrose or grape sugar—a form of sugar to which all starch elements must be changed before they can be assimilated by the system.

Grape-Nuts when eaten does not form a pasty mass difficult to digest—20-hours baking makes this delicious food easily digested by even those with the most delicate stomachs; and the character of the food requires thorough mastication.

Grape-Nuts is a well-balanced food for building bone, tooth and nerve structure. When combined with cream or milk, it is admittedly a complete food.

You will find Grape-Nuts everywhere. At your grocer's, your club, your hotel, your restaurant.

In America, where you don't find Grape-Nuts you won't find people.

DAIRYMEN CALLED IN MILK CASE

Prosecution Seeks to Show That Production Was Limited

Testimony tending to indicate that dairymen furnishing milk to local distributors had to limit their production in 1921 because of a purported agreed price to be paid them, was adduced yesterday in the so-called milk case in Judge Reeve's court by Dep. Dist. Atty. Powell and Van Cott.

J. P. White, a dairyman of Hyman, testified that to keep his production down to the average sales to distributors in February, 1921, he had to limit his stock of cattle, as he was paid for only butter fat.

Mrs. Pearl Sparks, owner of a dairy at Hyman, stated that her cows were not producing much in February and later began to produce. She testified that her dairy had lots of milk, but she could only sell as much milk as was needed for butter fat, and was forced to borrow money for expenses.

Fifteen other dairymen were called to testify along similar lines. The case is being defended by fourteen attorneys, representing the different defendants. Thirteen milk distributing companies and seventeen individuals are accused of violating the Cartwright Act in restraint of trade. The case will be resumed today.

SAVINGS deposits in Los Angeles banks are a bulwark against storms of financial depression.

Money in savings departments of local banks stabilizes the value of our lands, improvements, products and industries, just as the tremendous gold reserve makes every bit of currency issued by our Government acceptable at par any place on the globe.

Savings deposits of CALIFORNIA BANK are for this community, a vast reserve reservoir of money and credit owned and controlled by our customers.

Every dollar deposited in this bank is invested with the greatest care that men of mature judgment and long experience in this community can exercise—safety, always safety—every dollar loaned in our Savings Department must have back of it as security, real estate or other tangible assets considerably in excess of the amount of the loan.

Los Angeles has been, is, and will continue to be, the white spot of the world so long as this great reserve in individual savings deposited with our banks is maintained and increased commensurately with the growth of the city.

Do your part to keep the white spot shining brightly by adding regularly to your savings account.

O'Judgment

By Edgar Wallace

He looked yellow and haggard and he had much to do to keep his teeth from chattering.

"Not for a day or two," said the colonel, "and we shall be away by then. Does Crews know?"

"Pinto shook his head.

"I haven't any time to run about after that wine," he said impatiently.

"Well, you'd better do a little running now, then," said the colonel; "we may want his signature for the bank."

"What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to draw every penny we've got, and I advise you to do the same. I suppose you haven't made any provisions to get away, have you?"

"No," said Pinto, remembering with thankfulness that he had received a letter that morning from the aviator Cartwright, telling him that the machine was in good order and ready to start at any moment; "no, I have never thought of getting away, colonel. I've always said I'll stick to the colonel."

"If I'm," said the colonel, and there was no very great faith in Pinto revealed in his grunt.

Crews came along an hour later and seemed the least perturbed of the lot.

"Here's the check book," said the colonel, taking it from a drawer. "Now the balance we have"—he consulted a little wallet-coat pocket notebook. "It's eighty-one thousand, three hundred and seventeen pounds. I suggest we draw eighty thousand pounds, split it three parts and separate to-night."

"What about your own private account?" asked Pinto.

"That's my business," said the colonel sharply. He filled in the check, signed his name with a flourish and handed the pen to Crews.

Crews put his name beneath, saw that the check was made payable to bearer, and handed the book to the colonel.

"Here, Pinto," the colonel detached the form and blotted it. "Take a taxi cab, see Ferguson, and bring the money straight back here. Or, better still, go on to the New York Guaranty and change it into American money."

The colonel cleared the drawers of his writing table by the simple process of pulling them out and emptying their contents upon the top. He went through these with remarkable rapidity, throwing the papers one by one into the fire; and he was engaged in this occupation when Pinto returned.

"Back already?" asked the colonel in surprise; and then, after a glance at the other's face, he demanded: "What's wrong?"

"What's wrong?" asked Pinto. He just put the check down upon the table.

"Back already?" asked the colonel with a frown.

"They can't cash it," said Pinto in a hollow voice; "there's no money there."

The colonel picked up the check. "So there's no money there to meet it?" he said softly. "And why is there no money there to meet it?"

"Because it was drawn on three days ago. I thought—"

Pinto incoherently. "I saw Ferguson and he told me that a check for the full amount came through from the Bank of England."

"In whose favor was it drawn?" Pinto cleared his throat.

"In favor of the Chancellor of the Exchequer," he said. "That's why Ferguson passed it without question. He said that otherwise he would have sent a note to you."

"The Chancellor of the Exchequer?" asked the colonel. "What does it mean?"

"Look here! Ferguson showed it to me himself. He took a copy of the Times from his pocket and laid it on the table, pointing out the paragraph with trembling fingers.

"It was in the advertisement column and it was brief:

"The Chancellor of the Exchequer desires to acknowledge the receipt of £80,000—consolidated money from Col. D. S.

"Consolidated money?"

"The colonel sat back in his chair and laughed softly. He was genuinely amused.

"Of course we can get this back," he said last. "We can explain to the Chancellor of the Exchequer the trick that has been played upon us, but that means delay, and at the moment delay is really dangerous. I suppose both you fellows have money of your own. I know Pinto has. How do you stand, Crews?"

"I have a little," said Crews. "But honestly I was depending upon my share of the gang fund."

"What about you, colonel?" asked Pinto meaningly. "If I may suggest it, we should pool our money and divide."

The colonel smiled.

"Don't be silly," he said tersely. "I don't believe my balance at the bank is more than a couple of thousand pounds."

"But what about your private account?" asked Pinto.

"Ah! You didn't know I knew that, did you? As a matter of fact, Ferguson told me that—"

"What the devil does Ferguson mean by discussing my business?" said the colonel wrathfully. "What did he tell you?"

"He told me that the package was received and that he had put it with the other in his safe."

"Package?" The colonel's voice was quiet, almost inaudible. "The package was received? When was the package received?"

"He said it came and he put it with the other. Now what have you got in?"

The colonel was walking toward his bedroom with rapid strides. Presently he reappeared with his hat and his coat on.

"Come with me, Crews. We'll go down to the bank," he said. "You stay here, Pinto, and report any thing that happens."

"What is this package that came for me yesterday, Ferguson?"

The manager looked surprised. "It was an ordinary package, similar to that which you put in the safe the other day. It was sealed and wrapped, and had your name on it. I rather wondered you hadn't brought it yourself, but it was put into your safe in the presence of two clerks."

"I'd like to see it," said the colonel.

Ferguson led the way down the stairs to the vault and snapped back the lock of box twenty. As he did so Crews was conscious of a faint musty odor.

"I smell something," said the colonel suspiciously.

He reached his hand into the box and pulled open a long

THE SHEIK IN THE TIMES

Most-Talked-About Story of Year Will Begin in Next Sunday's Magazine

Beginning in next Sunday's Illustrated Magazine supplement The Times will publish "The Sheik," a sensational love story written by Edith M. Hull and the most-talked-about book of many months. The story will be continued in the daily and Sunday issues. Women everywhere have found a tremendous appeal in "The Sheik" and comment upon the situations so strikingly drawn by the author has reached almost to the point of controversy in literary circles. The story deals with the deepest human emotions, and its characters stand out with fiery relief. A rich and beautiful girl, headstrong and independent, is captured by a wild, unbridled but educated Arab Sheik. From a beginning based on the most brutal of passions, a strange romance grows, and the reader is carried through an amazing and convincing series of adventures. Will you agree that a girl in Diana Mayo's position could have been swayed as she was swayed?

Mr. Chase, when seen last night at his home, 1615 Bunting avenue, declined to discuss the case until he had received a copy of the detailed charges. "I do not know the name of the girl to whom these charges can refer," he declared. "I resigned from the Marine Corps at the end of the last quarter and my resignation was accepted. I know the Mr. Thorne who filed the charges, but I have no comment to make at present and am at a loss to account for Mr. Thorne's procedure."

Mr. Chase in appearance is about 30 years of age.

The State board voted to request the Los Angeles county board to bring Mr. Chase to trial, with the view of revoking his teacher's license if the charges are proven. (Continued in Tomorrow's Times)

GET BODIES OF VICTIMS OF DESERT

Two Angelenos, Who Died of Heat, Are Identified at El Centro

(EL CENTRO DISPATCH.)

EL CENTRO, June 26.—Bodies of J. J. Everharty of Los Angeles and F. E. Wilcox of El Paso were brought to an undertaking establishment here today. They were two of the three men fatally overcome by heat Saturday, in the desert about twenty miles east of Niland.

The third victim, also of Los Angeles, whose name is Brown, was taken to Brawley, where he died without regaining power to talk. His initials were not learned today. He was a companion of Everharty and from the position of their car they were hoisted from the ground.

Everharty was sitting lifeless at the wheel when a section crew found him. Brown was lying unconscious in the sand a few hundred yards away. Their car had evidently been disabled by a broken front spring and Brown had attempted on foot to reach help. The auto was supplied with a camp outfit and carried a five-gallon jug of water.

A searching party from Niland found Wilcox's body lying behind his wagon in the same neighborhood. Two burros, half-dead with thirst, were harnessed to the wagon. The animals were taken care of. Papers carried by Wilcox showed that he had started on a prospecting trip to the Coast. He was apparently about 35 years old and had been dead at least a day. A coroner's jury Erawley decided that all three had died of heat prostration. No evidence was found that they had been poisoned by arsenic water as first reported. Relatives of the dead have been notified by wire of the tragedy.
